

Educate Together temporary school building to be submitted for planning permission

18th August, 2008:

As part of the re-development of the Grangegorman site a new primary school is being built. The Department of Education and Science has decided that this school is to be under the patronage of Educate Together Dublin 7.

Dublin 7 Educate Together National School is a multi-denominational, co-educational primary school which operates under the patronage of Educate Together, a representative organisation of the Educate Together schools and associations throughout the Republic of Ireland. Educate Together has over 40 schools in the Republic of Ireland, many of them in the greater Dublin area.

Educate Together Dublin 7 is currently located in St. Joseph's school for the Deaf on the Navan Road but their lease is due to expire in June 2009. To facilitate them until the permanent school is built, the GDA in conjunction with the Department of Education are submitting a planning application for a temporary school on the site for a 3 year period. A diagram has been included here to show the layout of the temporary building.
